Hearing On Fresh Water Boundary Set For July 20

Protests against the Mississippi Seafood Commission's ruling setting the fresh water line at 50 feet South of the Bay bridge will be heard here Tuesday, July 20. Walter Gex Jr., president of the Commission, said the meeting would be held at the courthouse at 2:30 p.m. in response to a number of protests to the commission's action. "In compliance with the request of several organizations," Gex said, "as President of the Mississippi Seafood Commission I contacted the Mississippi Seafood Commission and they have agreed to a joint meeting of the State Game and Fish Commission and the Mississippi Seafood Commission at the courthouse."

He said they would "hear the protest of any and all persons and organizations as to the setting of the jurisdictional line between fresh and salt water along the shore line of the Gulf of Mexico."

City officials and several local organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce and American Legion, felt that the new ruling will have a detrimental effect on the community.

City Commissioner Sylvan Ladner told the EAGLE last week that the boundary line would "protect vigorously" the new boundary line.

The American Legion said that the boundary line would "do much to shelter the good will" they had helped to establish in recent months.

In a request to the Seafood Commission for a hearing on the "fresh water boundary," the Chamber of Commerce maintained that the boundary "does not reflect a true separation between fresh and salt water fishing."

The C of C said they had discussed the question with many fishermen and all stated definitely that "when fish anywhere near the bridge they expect to catch only salt water fish, regardless of the boat, lines and tackle which they might use."

In commenting on the adverse effect such a line would have on the community, the Chamber of Commerce said:

"Telleberg contacted eChamber. Sh... The largest industry of this community is its tourists and summer residents. Perhaps tourist trade is not properly referred to as any industry but from the standpoint of dollars flowing into this community, it is our biggest source of income."

"A very high percentage of these tourists and summer people, all non-residents, are attracted by reason of our fine fishing—including the use of both sides of the new bridge."

"The State of Mississippi has spent thousands of dollars in publicity in inviting people to the Gulf Coast for fishing. If these people are required to secure licenses in order to fish from or near the bridge, we are certain that we will lose a substantial part of this, our biggest business."

The Chamber of Commerce pointed out that if all non-residents caught fishing in this area without a license were "hauled in," much bad publicity would result:

"We have had more than enough the C of C said."

City Beach and New Public Pier Proving Popular With Local People. Visitors

The sand beach at the head of Carroll Ave., with the new public pier nearly completed, is proving a drawing card to local as well as out-of-town people.

Each day since the closing of schools hundreds of persons, old and young alike, can be seen swimming on the beach or cooling off in the safe bathing in the waters of the Harbor.

With a boat and paddle, the public can relax while offsprings safely play on the sand or brine the water.

Later afternoon are the most popular hours for visitors, gather and picnic suppers and blazing bonfires are enjoyed by the young and the young at heart.

On week ends the number of cars on the beach and side streets while occupants are enjoying the beach is indication that the construction of this stretch of beach was one of the wisest investments made by the city.

It is good to see these vacationers enjoying our town. It will be good to continue to offer such inducements to bring more of them here.

We sincerely hope that the Park Commission and the City Council will continue in their efforts to create and keep such attractive places of pleasure for visitors and residents of the community.

POLIO INCIDENCE UP, EMERGENCY MARCH OF DIMES PLANNED

The usual high seasonal polio incidence is prevalent in some parts of Mississippi, according to Dr. A. L. Gray, Director of the Division of Preventable Disease Control of the State Board of Health.

Cases for the state total 141 now, as compared to 134 at the same time last year.

Washington County is hardest hit with 23 cases; Bolivar has 12 cases and Sunflower 10. All three are adenovirus-dominant. Forty-four other counties have reported cases numbering from 1 to 6.

Dr. Felix Underwood, State Health Officer and veteran State Police Fund Chairman today announced that an emergency March of Dimes appeal will be conducted state-wide during the last two weeks of August. The emergency drive is necessary, Dr. Underwood stated, in order for the National Foundation and its county chapters to continue patient aid and polio prevention programs.

Dr. Underwood, in commenting on the polio fund needs, said, "Mississippi people will respond generously to the Emergency March of Dimes. We have been helped too much by the National Foundation to fail us the best to do our part."

And this is true, our polio hospitals are fast being filled with new victims of this incurable malady. These patients must have adequate care. Funds must be met."

We are now entering the induction phase of the vaccination drive. Surely no one would be a party to slowing this important venture because money is needed to care for patients. And when you start cutting down on potential aid in a year that already gives us the heavy polio incidence.

No county and no community is immune to the effects of polio, the State Health Officer said. I know our people along with all other Americans will not permit this vital program we have supported during the 16 March Heart Association, a direct affiliate of the American Heart Association, organized to support and carry out the main objectives of the Heart Program.

Research into the cause, prevention and treatment of diseases of the heart and blood vessels, Education of both professional and public, and Community Service.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mrs. Pevey said, "It is apparent that there is an increasing awareness of the importance of the heart problem and of the need for combating the heart disease as vigorously as possible. It would be difficult to name a family that has not lost at least one member because of heart disease. In point of actual fact diseases of the heart and blood vessels are responsible for as many deaths as all other diseases combined, which is another way of saying that progress in the fight against heart disease is of actual or potential importance to every living American."

She emphasized that the Heart Association approaches the problem from the vantage point of hope, hope that medical research ultimately will be able to control diseases of the heart. A companion hope, she added, is that the people will be given a broader understanding of heart diseases and that heart sufferers will be better enabled to live as normally and as productively as possible.

and for patients, research and professional education continue for as long as necessary."
